After being ordained a priest in Poland, he became an auxiliary bishop. In 1964, he was selected as the Archbishop of Krakow and participated in the Second Vatican Council.

Archbishop Wojtyla was elected pope, the 263rd successor to St. Peter, in October 1978 and took the name John Paul II. He led the initiatives in the creation of the Catechism of the Catholic Church and the Code of Canon Law for the Latin Church and for the Eastern Churches. In the missionary spirit, he met and greeted millions of people in his papal ministry.

He also attracted young people to the Church by beginning the celebration of World Youth Day.
