Deacon's Corner
Second Sunday of Easter

This Sunday is known as Divine Mercy Sunday. The Gospel of St. John (20:19-31) tells us that the Apostles, except Thomas, were in the Upper Room. They are concerned about their safety; Our Lord has been crucified; His tomb is empty; and they left or denied Jesus when He needed them.

Then, the Risen Christ appears to them in this locked room and wishes them "Shalom" or "Peace." It is a greeting of mercy and forgiveness. Jesus commissions the Apostles to continue the divine work that He has begun by building His Holy Church on this earth. He says to them, "As the Father has sent me, so I send you." The word "Apostle" means, "one who is sent."

Like the Apostles, Jesus also sends each of us into our homes, neighborhoods, and towns to proclaim the Good News by our words and actions. We are called to live for Jesus and to love others as Jesus loves. As the baptized, we are sent to proclaim "that God is love, Christ saves, and Christ is alive" (Christus Vivit, Chapter 4).

We do not perform these works of mercy and love by ourselves. Pope Francis explains, "When you receive the Holy Spirit, he draws you ever more deeply into the heart of Christ, so that you can grow in His love, His life and His power" (Christus Vivit, 130). The Holy Spirit will help us in the mission that we have been given by the Risen Lord.
